UPDATING THE CZECH PRINCIPLES OF URBAN POLICY

EUKN Policy Lab for Czechia
Date: 23 September 2021
Time: 13:30 - 17:00 CEST
Platform: Zoom (registered participants will receive the login details in advance)
Language: English with simultaneous interpretation to Czech
Organisers: European Urban Knowledge Network (EUKN) EGTC and the Czech Ministry of Regional Development

The endorsement of the New Leipzig Charter in November 2020, and the upcoming Czech Council Presidency in the second half of 2022, are among the reasons for updating the Czech Principles of Urban Policy (PUP). The EUKN is cooperating closely with the Czech Ministry of Regional Development to support the renewal of this strategic document, issued first in 2010 and renewed in 2017. This Policy Lab and the EUKN-OECD Week of National Urban Policies organised in June 2021 represent milestones of this cooperation.

This Policy Lab has four main objectives:

• Collect feedback on the Czech PUP and its renewal process
• Explore how key strategic agendas such as the New Urban Agenda, the Urban Agenda for the EU and especially the New Leipzig Charter, should inform the new Czech PUP and its thematic principles
• Exchange of knowledge and experience on NUPs among Member States
• Explore principles to embed into the Czech PUP, specifically in support of social cohesion (just), environmental sustainability (green) and economic development (productive) and in the context of the COVID-19 pandemic recovery.

The outputs of this event will contribute to a compact policy paper providing recommendations for the Czech Ministry of Regional Development on the Czech PUP and its way forward.

To collect participants’ inputs and ensure they will feed into the discussion in the best way possible, the EUKN Secretariat prepared a brief survey. All participants are kindly requested to fill in this short survey by 15 September 2021. This will take about 10 minutes.
